NATIONAL FUN HOLIDAY/DAYS

MESSAGE:

In the town of Rjukan, Norway they live in darkness for about half of the year. You see, Rjukan sits at the bottom of a valley and part of the year the sun doesn't go high enough in the sky to shine on the town. Because sunlight is so important, a local decided to do something about it.

He designed mirrors that would reflect the sun down into the town's square. The mirrors track the path of the sun and move every 10 seconds to project the sunlight down into the town.

Talk about seeing a need and doing something about it!
